Remote Vocational Training Scheme Ltd (RVTS)

2017 Applicant Guide for Remote Stream

Program Overview
The RVTS is a vocational training program, which is available to doctors who under ordinary circumstances could not complete vocational training except by leaving their communities. The four-year program allows doctors to access vocational training while they continue to provide general medical services to their communities. The community retains their doctor while the doctor receives the benefits of vocational training.

The program has 2 streams of trainees:
- The Remote Stream, for doctors working in remote & rural Australia
- The AMS Stream, providing support specifically for doctors in Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services

Both streams train towards fellowship qualifications of the RACGP and/or ACRRM. The training includes webinars, education workshops, remote supervision and individualised training advice.

The Remote Stream has an intake of 22 doctors annually. RVTS will run two application rounds for the 2017 intake. Up to fourteen positions will be filled in Round 1. The remaining positions will be filled in Round 2.
- Applicants unsuccessful at interview in Round 1 will not be eligible to apply for Round 2.
- Applicants successful at interview but not offered a position will automatically go into Round 2 if their circumstances have remained the same. Their interview score from Round 1 will apply for Round 2.
- Applicants not offered an interview in Round 1 must complete an online application again to be considered in Round 2. Supporting documents that have remained current from Round 1 need not be re-submitted. Only documents previously submitted in Round 1 which are no longer current must be updated and re-submitted.

At the time of applying, applicants must indicate whether their intention is to train towards fellowship of ACRRM or fellowship of RACGP or both. Their training location must meet the requirements of the relevant College. If an applicant chooses to train towards both fellowships, their location must meet the requirements of both Colleges. Applicants who are undecided on which College Fellowship they will train towards should nominate training for both Colleges.

All applicants must be working in an eligible location at the time of application and remain in that location throughout their training. The applicant must return to their eligible location prior to commencement of training.

Applications are accepted from Australian citizens, permanent residents and temporary residents.

Enrolment in other vocational training programs
All applicants are required to indicate whether they are currently enrolled in another vocational training program.

Doctors who have applied to the Australian General Practice Training Program (AGPT) for training commencing in 2017 must indicate this in their RVTS application.

Doctors currently enrolled in AGPT or the ACRRM Independent Pathway or the RACGP General Practice Experience Pathway must formally resign from these programs prior to commencement of training with RVTS. Evidence of resignation must be provided to RVTS. A statutory declaration of intention to resign, sworn by the applicant must be included with their application.

Candidates in other vocational training programs which lead to specialist medical registration outside of the RVTS program such as Fellowship of the Australasian College for Emergency Medicine (FACEM) etc must obtain approval from RVTS to remain in that program prior to commencement of training with RVTS.

1 Defined by Google Maps
RVTS training must not be compromised by a registrar being enrolled in another vocational training program.

College Exams
Applicants must provide details of having sat any segments of ACRRM or RACGP exams.

Ranking of applicants for interview
At the close of applications, all applicants meeting the eligibility criteria will be ranked to develop a list of applicants for interview. Applicants will be ordered sequentially by each of the following steps:

A. RVTS Category
Following on from ranking by access to AGPT training, applicants will be ordered by RVTS Category where applicants meeting Category 1 criteria will have a higher ranking. The RVTS categories are as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Category 1</td>
<td>Australian or New Zealand citizen or Australian permanent resident, with General Registration with the Medical Board of Australia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Category 2</td>
<td>A temporary resident who has applied for permanent residence and has General Registration with the Medical Board of Australia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Category 3</td>
<td>An Australian or New Zealand citizen or Australian permanent resident who has Limited Registration for Area of Need with the Medical Board of Australia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Category 4</td>
<td>A temporary resident who has Limited Registration for Area of Need with the Medical Board of Australia.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

B. Solo Doctor Town Status
Following on from ranking by A, applicants will be ranked via their solo doctor town status. Applicants from a solo doctor town will be ranked higher than applicants from a multi-doctor town.

C. RA Classification
Following on from ranking by A & B applicants will be ranked via ASGC-RA classification. Applicants from RA5 will be ranked highest, followed by applicants from RA4, RA3, and then RA2.

Acceptance for interview:
The highest ranked applicants will then be interviewed for a place in the Remote Stream.

<td>14</td>

</tr>

</table>

If several doctors have equal ranking at the cutoff number to be interviewed, then the number of interviews will be increased to allow for each of the doctors of equal ranking to be interviewed.

The Selection Process
A panel of RVTS representatives will interview selected applicants by videoconference.

The interview process will allow applicants to demonstrate their suitability for entry into RVTS. Applicants will be assessed against the following criteria, and will be asked to provide examples of their:

1. Interest in rural and remote practice

3 A Solo Doctor Town is a town where the applicant is the only doctor providing medical services in the town on more than 3 days per week as verified by the relevant rural workforce agency or Primary Health Network.
2. Professional development
3. Communication skills
4. Time management
5. Applied clinical knowledge
6. Willingness to receive feedback and learn from it
7. Ethical practice

Each criterion will be scored from 1 to 7; 1 being significantly below satisfactory; 7 being significantly above satisfactory, 4 being borderline.

An applicant will be considered unsuitable for RVTS if at interview:
- They score 1 in more than one question or
- They score 2 in more than two questions or
- Their overall score is equal to or less than 30

Training places will be offered on the basis of eligibility, ranking, interview score and satisfactory referee reports. The offer will only apply for the location referred to in the application. If a successful applicant does not commence training in the location referred to in their application, they will forfeit their place on the program.

Further requirements
All applicants must continue to work in an eligible RVTS location for the majority of their training (except for approved hospital training and advanced skills posts). If a successful applicant moves training location within the first twelve months of commencement of training they will forfeit their place in the training program.

Limited Registration Doctors on the Australian Medical Council Standard Pathway
RVTS requirements are additional to any requirements laid out by the Medical Board of Australia. Doctors with Limited Registration with the Medical Board of Australia may have a requirement to obtain General or Specialist Registration within a certain time frame. Training with RVTS does not remove the need to meet this requirement. Doctors who will not be able to complete sufficient training time to gain Fellowship prior to expiry of their medical registration will not be considered for the program. Thus Limited registration must have first been granted on or after 1 February 2015 and the doctor must have a minimum of 2 years of previous general practice experience as assessed by the RACGP if intending to progress to award of FRACGP or 2 years of recognition of prior learning as assessed by ACRRM if intending to progress to award of FACRRM. Doctors must have a minimum of Level 3 or 4 supervision. Doctors with Level 1 or 2 supervision requirements are ineligible. It is up to a doctor with Limited Registration to examine their individual registration requirements very carefully and consult with the Medical Board of Australia prior to joining RVTS.

RVTS will not accept responsibility for loss of registration due to failure to meet Medical Board registration requirements.

RVTS provides training toward FRACGP/FARGP and FACRRM. Once Fellowship of ACRRM or RACGP is achieved, doctors with Limited Registration are able to apply to the Medical Board of Australia for Specialist Registration as a “Specialist” General Practitioner. Specialist Registration as a GP should enable doctors to practice in typical office based general practice environments. At this stage it is unclear whether Specialist Registration as a GP extends to hospital practice or some specialty areas e.g. skin clinics.

In order to legally practice in a broad range of environments General Registration is required. RVTS doctors with Limited Registration may apply for General Registration if they have attained the AMC Certificate and can demonstrate that they have completed the equivalent of an intern year. RVTS doctors with Limited Registration on the AMC Standard Pathway are encouraged to complete their AMC Certificate while training with RVTS.

Termination of Training

RVTS is able to provide the training program as a result of funding from the Australian Government and acknowledges that support. If at any time this funding was to end then the training may be immediately ended by written notice.

The training may also be brought to an end immediately by RVTS if a doctor undertaking the training does not achieve satisfactory progress or no longer meets location, practice status or medical registration and residency requirements or there is found to have been a material error in their application.
