About RVTS

The RVTS is a General Practice/Rural Generalist training program available to doctors who, under ordinary circumstances, could not complete training without leaving their communities. The three-to-four-year program allows doctors to access training while they continue to provide medical services to their communities. The community retains their doctor while the doctor receives the benefits of training toward Fellowship qualifications in General Practice/Rural Generalism.

The program has 2 streams of trainees:

- The Remote Stream, for doctors working in remote and rural Australia,
- The AMS (Aboriginal Medical Service) Stream, providing support specifically for doctors in Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services (ACCHS<sup>1</sup>)

Both streams train towards fellowship qualifications of the RACGP and/or ACRRM. The training includes webinars, education workshops, remote supervision and individualised training advice.

The Remote Stream has an intake of 22 doctors annually. Up to eleven positions will be filled per intake.

The AMS stream has an intake of 10 doctors annually. Up to five positions will be filled per intake.

At the time of applying, applicants must indicate whether they intend to train towards fellowship of ACRRM or fellowship of RACGP, or both. Their training location must meet the requirements of the relevant College. If an applicant chooses to train towards both fellowships, their location must meet the requirements of both Colleges.

RACGP – Fellowship Requirements

ACRRM – Fellowship Requirements

Doctors who have Fellowship of ACRRM and/or RACGP are ineligible to apply for the RVTS training program.

Location

Only applicants already working in their location prior to applications opening are eligible to apply, and they must remain in that location throughout their training. An applicant who, at the time of applying, is on leave of absence from their eligible location while undertaking accredited advanced specialised training is eligible to apply. The applicant must return to their eligible location prior to commencement of training. Evidence must be provided that the applicant will be returning to their location. If an applicant changes location prior to commencement of training, the training position will be forfeited. Evidence of practice at the current eligible location prior to the application opening date must be provided at the time of application. E.g., Letter of Support from Practice AND one piece of additional evidence e.g., Medicare Provider Number, contract, etc.

Residency Status

Applications are accepted from Australian citizens, permanent residents and temporary residents. Temporary residents should have adequate time left on their visa to complete the training program and are required to provide evidence of their application for permanent residency.

Preference will be given to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander doctors.

Enrolment in other vocational training programs

All applicants are required to indicate whether they are currently enrolled in another vocational training program. Doctors who have applied to the Australian General Practice Training Program (AGPT) or the ACRRM Rural Generalist Training Scheme (RGTS) for training commencing in 2024 must indicate this in their RVTS application.

Doctors who have applied or are currently enrolled in AGPT, ACRRM Independent Pathway or Rural Generalist Training Scheme, or RACGP Fellowship Support Program (FSP) must upload with their application documents, a statutory declaration of their intention to resign, should their application to RVTS be successful.

RVTS training must not be compromised by a registrar being enrolled in another vocational training program.

Ranking

At the close of applications, all applicants meeting the eligibility criteria will be ranked to develop a list of applicants for interview.

Applicants will be ordered sequentially by each of the following steps:

A) Indigenous Doctors<sup>5</sup>

Indigenous doctors will be ranked higher than non-indigenous doctors.

B) RVTS Category

Applicants will be ordered by RVTS Category where applicants meeting Category 1 criteria will have a higher ranking. The RVTS categories are as follows:

- Category 1 Australian or New Zealand citizen or Australian permanent resident, with General Registration with AHPRA.
- Category 2 A temporary resident who has applied for permanent residence (as evidenced by written confirmation, refer Supporting Documentation, pg. 9 of this guide) and has General Registration with AHPRA.
- Category 3 An Australian or New Zealand citizen or Australian permanent resident who has Limited Registration for Area of Need with AHPRA or a temporary resident who has not applied for permanent residence and who has General Registration with AHPRA.
- Category 4 A temporary resident who has Limited Registration for Area of Need with AHPRA.

C) MMM Classification

Following on from ranking by A and B, applicants will be ranked via MMM classification. Applicants from MMM7 will be ranked highest, followed by applicants from MMM6, MMM5, and then MMM4.

Where applicants have equal ranking based on the above criteria, the RA<sup>6</sup> and RRMA<sup>7</sup> classifications (in that order) will be used as further ranking criteria.

Number of Positions

The highest ranked applicants will then be invited to participate in the Situational Judgement Test (SJT) and interview process for a place in the Remote Stream.

	2024.2
Number of places to be filled	11
Number of interviews	17

Some of the positions on the Remote stream may be filled through the Targeted Recruitment Process, which is focused on designated locations of high workforce needs.

<sup>5</sup> Aboriginal people can apply to their Local Aboriginal Land Council or an Aboriginal community organisation for a 'Confirmation of Aboriginality' or a 'Certificate of Aboriginality'. These documents state that the person is known to identify as an Aboriginal person and is accepted by that community as an Aboriginal person. The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Act also applies to people who identify as Torres Strait Islanders.

<sup>7</sup> <https://www.health.gov.au/health-topics/health-workforce/health-workforce-classifications/rural-remote-and-metropolitan-area>

The number of interviews to be conducted will be at least 1.5 times the number of vacant positions.

The Selection Process

Interview

A panel of RVTS representatives will interview selected applicants by videoconference.

The interview process will allow applicants to demonstrate their suitability for entry into the RVTS training program.

Applicants will be assessed against the following criteria:

1. Interest in and commitment to rural and remote practice
2. Professional development
3. Communication skills
4. Time management
5. Applied clinical knowledge
6. Willingness to receive feedback and learn from it
7. Ethical practice

Each criterion will be scored from 1 to 7:

- 1 being significantly below satisfactory
- 7 being significantly above satisfactory
- 4 being borderline

Situational Judgement Test

All eligible applicants selected for interview will be required to undertake an online Situational Judgement Test (SJT).

The SJT score will contribute to the final score used to rank candidates.

The SJT must be completed in isolation at the applicant's practice, with either their practice manager or practice nurse to act as Invigilator.

Candidates are given 100 minutes to complete 50 questions with a combination of single best answer, multiple correct answer and ranking questions.

Outcome

An applicant will be considered suitable for RVTS if:

- Their interview score is equal to or greater than 32, AND
- Their SJT score is equal to or greater than 32 OR
- Their interview score is equal to or greater than 32 and SJT score is 31, or vice versa, and their aggregate score is greater than or equal to 64

Training places will be offered based on a ranked aggregated interview and SJT score, and satisfactory referee reports.

The offer will only apply for the location referred to in the application. If a successful applicant does not commence training in the location referred to in their application, they will forfeit their place on the program.

Additional Points:

- Applicants who are unsuccessful in previous intakes are eligible to apply for subsequent intakes (e.g.: if unsuccessful in 2024.2 you can reapply for 2025.1).
- Applicants who achieve RVTS minimum selection requirements in previous rounds of an intake but are not offered a position will automatically be considered for later rounds of that intake (e.g.: Round 1 and 2 of 2024.2 intake) if their circumstances have remained the same. Their score from previous rounds will apply for that intake.

- Applicants who are not offered an interview in previous rounds must complete an online application for further rounds of an intake and must upload all supporting documents to be considered for that round.

Further requirements

All applicants must continue to work in an eligible RVTS location for the duration of their training, except for approved hospital and advanced skills posts. If a successful applicant leaves their training location, they will forfeit their place in the training program.

College Exams

Applicants must provide details and evidence of all attempts at any segments of ACRRM or RACGP exams, including date of exam and the outcome at the time of application. Applicants need to be aware of the RACGP restriction on exam attempts. Candidates have six enrolments over a period of three years to pass all three Fellowship exam segments (not including periods of approved leave). RACGP Fellowship Exams Policy.

The RACGP has a policy of RVTS registrars not commencing any exam segments until after 12 months from commencement of training. For RVTS Registrars, the 3-year time limit is suspended until they have met the exam eligibility requirements of the program (12 months).<sup>8</sup>

ACRRM Registrars must have been enrolled in RVTS for at least 12 months before being eligible to sit the ACRRM MCQ, and 2 years to undertake Case Based Discussion and StAMPS. RPL may reduce this time. In certain circumstances, ACRRM, allows registrars to undertake exams in their first year of training, only in exceptional circumstances will RVTS recommend that a registrar sits at this time.

Applicants must have sufficient exam cycles remaining to be eligible to attain Fellowship.

Registration

Limited Registration Doctors on the Australian Medical Council Standard Pathway

RVTS requirements are additional to any requirements laid out by AHPRA. Doctors with Limited Registration with AHPRA may have a requirement to obtain General or Specialist Registration within a certain time frame. Training with RVTS does not remove the need to meet this requirement. Doctors who will not be able to complete sufficient training time to gain Fellowship prior to expiry of their medical registration will not be considered for the program. Thus, limited registration must have first been granted on or after 22 July 2023.

Limited or Provisional Registration Doctors on Medical Board of Australia level 1 or 2 supervision

Since supervision is normally undertaken remotely, doctors must have a minimum of Level 3 or 4 supervision. Doctors with Level 1 or 2 supervision requirements are ineligible for the RVTS Training Program. It is up to a doctor with Limited or Provisional Registration to examine their individual registration requirements very carefully and consult with AHPRA prior to joining RVTS.

RVTS will not accept responsibility for loss of registration due to failure to meet Medical Board registration requirements.

Applicants who have Conditions, Undertakings or Reprimands with AHPRA are not eligible to apply.

Applicants who have any current or pending cases with AHPRA that may result in future Conditions, Undertakings or Reprimands to their medical registration are required to provide these details at time of application. This requirement excludes supervision requirements that apply to International Medical Graduates (IMG's) with Limited or Provisional Registration.

RVTS provides training toward FRACGP/FRACGP-RG and FACRRM. Once Fellowship of ACRRM or RACGP is achieved, doctors with Limited Registration are able to apply to AHPRA for Specialist Registration as a General Practitioner. In order to legally practice in a broad range of environments, General Registration is required. RVTS doctors with Limited Registration may apply for General Registration if they have attained the AMC Certificate and can demonstrate that they have completed the equivalent of an intern year. RVTS doctors with Limited Registration on the AMC Standard Pathway are encouraged to complete their AMC Certificate while training with RVTS.

Termination of Training

Delivery of the RVTS training program is dependent on funding from the Australian Government. If at any time this funding is discontinued, RVTS training may cease. The training may also be ended by RVTS if a participant does not achieve satisfactory

<sup>8</sup> www.racgp.org.au/education/registrars/fellowship-pathways/policy-framework/policies/fellowship-exam-attempts progress or no longer meets location, practice status or medical registration and residency requirements, or there is found to have been a material error in their application. If the training location fails or refuses to comply with its agreement with RVTS, registrar participation in the program may be suspended or terminated by RVTS.
