RVTS TARGETED RECRUITMENT PILOT

The Remote Vocational Training Scheme (RVTS) assists the recruitment of doctors to targeted rural and remote communities with high medical workforce need, by including the RVTS GP Vocational Training program as a component of the doctor recruitment package. Since 2018, RVTS has successfully assisted the recruitment of 27 doctors to 28 rural and remote locations across Australia, including 11 Aboriginal Medical Services.

RVTS Training is a four-year GP and Rural Generalist training program delivered by Distance Education and Remote Supervision leading to Fellowship of the ACRRM and/or RACGP. RVTS Training is fully funded by the Australian Government.

The Targeted Recruitment model has brought workforce stability and enhanced continuity of care to the participating communities, as well as career progression to specialist qualifications for the recruited doctors. The RVTS Targeted Recruitment strategy is an Australian Government Initiative.

FourT's is a comprehensive primary care service across four nearby communities, Tottenham, Trangie, Trundle, and Tullamore with Rural Generalists working as a collaborative team to provide high-quality health care. The services are located within the town's Multipurpose Service and seamlessly link through a single-employer model with the acute services in these towns.

This new model aims to address the historical challenges of primary care sustainability in rural communities, providing Doctors with the flexibility to be well supported, so you can provide whole-of-health care (primary and aged care alongside acute and emergency care) in a networked, single employer system.

Together the FourT's Medical Centres care for approximately 2500 primary care patients alongside 45 aged care residents within the four MPS's in total. Each of the Emergency Departments across the 4T's see on average less than two emergency presentations per day, and all have between 2 and 4 inpatient beds available.

Medical staff are also supported by our 24/7 Virtual Rural Generalist Service to ensure doctors are not overburdened by minor presentations after-hours and on weekends.
